

Need to raise your profile?

Our one-to-one marketing audit will set you on the right track.

During this in-depth session we assess your current position, discuss your goals, look at your target markets, review your marketing to date and make recommendations for the way forward.

Forming the basis of an integrated marketing strategy, this half-day exercise will cover everything from branding to PR, social media to email marketing, websites to networking and will leave you buzzing with ideas to raise your profile.

£150+vat refundable against further work.
